One-Eyed Worker Wants Chance

General Foresees New Fighting In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, arrived in Saigon today and predicted a new round of fighting will break the current lull in the war.

Wheeler, making his second visit to the war zone in 2½ months, said he was particularly interested in seeing what progress has been made in turning more combat action over to South Vietnamese forces.

New Fighting Foreseen

Commenting on reports by the U.S. Command that the level of action is at its lowest point this year, Wheeler said, "I look for it to pick back up. The same thing has happened in the past. The enemy has his cyclic high points and his low points and he is in a low point now because of allied actions."

Wheeler said he expects the Communist command to launch a winter-spring campaign, but he did not predict any timetable. Other military sources have said they thought the campaign might begin in November.

Korean Celebration

Wheeler was accompanied on the flight from Seoul, Korea, by the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton Abrams. They had attended a celebration marking the 21st anniversary of the South Korean armed forces.

Wheeler will confer with military and civilian U.S. officials during his stay and visit the field as he did during his last visit July 16-20.

In the war, the U.S. Command reported light and scattered ground action but no major battles involving U.S. troops.

51 Reds Killed

South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 51 enemy soldiers in two fights, one in the Mekong Delta 130 miles southwest of Saigon and the other 32 miles northeast of Saigon. South Vietnamese casualties were put at 10 killed and 11 wounded, including one Green Beret adviser.

Husbands Drown In Lake Mishap; 2 Wives Saved

BEULAH (AP) — Two men drowned, but their wives were rescued Friday when their boat overturned in Turtle Lake, about 10 miles east of Beulah in Benzie County.

The victims were Everett Van Springstead, 59, of Muskegon, and Benjamin Allen Taylor, 66, of Beulah.

William Hiser, a boat livery operator, heard the women's cries for help and rescued them as they floundered toward shore. Hiser said both men already had gone down when he reached the women.

Sheriff's deputies said the boat capsized when one of its occupants stood up.

Plane Hijacking Rule Gets Backing

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Israel has joined the United States and a growing parade of other nations demanding U.N. action to stop hijacking of planes.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, whose government has threatened to act if two Israelis aboard a hijacked airliner are not released by Syria, called Friday for international steps to end air piracy.

Eban told a luncheon of the U.N. Correspondents Association that Israel would support a move by Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph M. M. A. H. Luns to get the issue on the agenda of the General Assembly.

Luns called Wednesday for a resolution demanding that international aviation conventions provide that any nation receiving a hijacked plane should return the aircraft and passengers or lose its privileges under the conventions.

A TWA Boening 707 with 113 persons aboard was commandeered Aug. 29 by two Arab guerrillas en route from Rome to Athens and Tel Aviv. The hijackers forced the captain to land the aircraft in Damascus. Later all the passengers were released, except two Israeli men.

The Netherlands and seven other countries will push for a debate this weekend on air piracy.

Trusted GI Baffles U.S. Probe Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators looking into charges that the Army's one-time top enlisted man was part of a criminal empire want to know why the soldier remains in a position of trust and responsibility.

For the past week, a Senate investigations subcommittee has focused on Sgt. William O. Wooldridge who, one senator said, is assuming the "proportions of a character of fiction" from testimony concerning a multimillion-dollar graft operation.

Although Wooldridge is no longer the Army's No. 1 enlisted man, he recently was named sergeant major at the White Sand missile base in New Mexico and the subcommittee wants to know why.

So far, there has been no answer but the senators indicate they will press the matter when hearings resume next week with Wooldridge expected to testify.

"The person who is sergeant major of the Army is in a position to greatly affect the morale and welfare of the Army at large," Col. James C. Shoultz, now deputy provost marshal general, said Friday.

Shoultz testified that when he complained to Maj. Gen. Carl Turner, that a criminal investigation involving Wooldridge was being stifled, the general ordered him out of his office.

"He told me Sgt. Maj. Wooldridge was just a very simple fellow and people took advantage of him frequently and he was just a good ol' country boy," Shoultz related.

Reis Kash, a warrant officer who is a key investigator in the Army's Criminal Investigation Division said Wooldridge attended a secret meeting at Ft. Benning, Ga. called to set up a scheme to manipulate Vietnamese and U.S. currency on a worldwide basis.

He said CID agents at Ft. Benning told him the main purpose of the meeting was "the investment of money that was being generated by other illicit activities," including rakeoffs from slot machines at NCO clubs in Vietnam and Germany.

A retired Army major general and NCO club sergeants from Army bases around the world attended the 1967 meeting, Kash said.

Proposed RR Strike Ends Up On Side Track

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration intervention has postponed for at least 60 days a labor-management showdown that had threatened a nationwide shutdown of rail service starting today.

President Nixon invoked the Railway Labor Act Friday and created an emergency board to determine the facts and recommend the basis for settlements of a year-long wage dispute between four railroad shopcraft unions and the country's 76 major carriers.

Under the law, the presidential action bars the unions from striking six selected roads and prevents management from carrying out a counter threat to halt all rail traffic.

The President based his decision on a finding by Labor Secretary George P. Shultz that a showdown between the unions and operators would seriously disrupt essential transportation services.

Both sides pledged cooperation with the three-member emergency board composed of experienced labor relations and mediation experts. None of them is an official of the federal government, a union or a railroad.

Rail industry officials said they were hopeful the board's findings and recommendations would pave the way for a fair settlement.

The unions, through their chief negotiator, William W. Winpisinger, were pessimistic, redicting the problem would be back where it started after 60 days. He blamed the industry, by its threat of a nationwide shutdown, for forcing the government to invoke the Railway Act.

The unions involved are the machinists, electrical and sheetmetal workers and the boilermakers. They had aimed their strike against the Santa Fe, Illinois Central, Great Northern, Southern, Chesapeake & Ohio-Baltimore & Ohio and the Erie-Lackawanna.

In a strike against the six roads, the unions had hoped to set wage patterns for their 60,000 member employed by all major lines.

Rail shopcraft workers now earn $3.59 cents an hour. They have demanded increases of 10 per cent per year and other pay benefits. The carriers have offered raises of 2 per cent from last Jan. 1 and an additional 3 per cent retroactive to last July 1.

Hurricane Inga Bermuda-Bound

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Inga, the erratic storm that has kicked up the Atlantic for 11 days, early today pointed its 80-mile-an-hour winds toward Bermuda as it turned northward toward the tourist island 240 miles away.

The National Hurricane Center said Inga made a rather sharp turn to the north Friday night and increased its forward speed to 8 m.p.h. in response to a cold front moving from the northwest.

"Inga is expected to turn northeastward and the forecast track would bring the center about 100 miles to the southeast of Bermuda," the Hurricane Center said. "This would bring winds of gale force very close to the island."

President Sticking With Justice Choice

Some Fellow Republicans On Opposite Side

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon is still firmly supporting Clement F. Haynsworth for the Supreme Court, but the Florida White House acknowledged today that the President has gained new information critical of the judge since sending his name to the Senate.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said a complete review of all aspects of Haynsworth's background had been made prior to the nomination and "when additional reports came up in the press, even further checking was done."

Asked if this meant Nixon had learned some facts about Haynsworth after submitting his name and had then ordered his more extensive check, Ziegler said, "To some extent the reports and the interpretation of some of these matters have never been interpreted in that way before."

It was obvious that the reports that prompted a further inquiry into Haynsworth's past were of a critical nature.

Ziegler was asked whether the Senate Republican leadership would join the President in supporting Haynsworth.

"You would have to address your question to them," Ziegler said.

Griffin Neutral

Both Republican Leader Hugh Scott and GOP Whip Robert P. Griffin refused to take sides Friday as Nixon began to shift the full weight of his prestige into blunting criticism of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth.

Scott said he still would vote in the Senate Judiciary Committee to report the nomination to the floor but that he could not predict what the Senate—or even he—would do then.

Scott even added a note of faint hostility. He said he agreed with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield that Haynsworth may have shown questionable judgment in ruling, as a federal judge, on two cases involving companies with which he was financially involved.

Whites House Pressure

Scott also left it up to another Republican member of the Judiciary Committee to release a letter from Nixon that capped a day of steadily increased White House pressure and mounting counter-demands from Democrats and Republicans that Nixon withdraw the nomination.

In a letter to Scott, Nixon said there was nothing in Haynsworth's record to cast doubt on his integrity or to fault his position on civil rights or labor issues.

"In order that there be no misunderstanding on the part of anyone," wrote Nixon, who is spending the weekend at Key Biscayne, Fla., "I send this letter to confirm that I steadfastly support this nomination and earnestly hope and trust that

Secret Hanoi Talks Started

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon's staff held open today the possibility that the United States is in secret contact with the Hanoi government about Vietnam peace prospects.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, questioned about a report that the administration has been in touch behind the scene with Hanoi since the death of Ho Chi Minh, declined to deny the premise.

Nixon just this week has been trying to promote a moratorium on criticism of his Vietnam policy, presumably so he could advance his search for peace.

In a Washington dispatch, James McCartney of the Knight newspaper chain said the Nixon administration had made recent contacts with Hanoi and that these were directly related to the push for a halt to criticism.

Ziegler, when asked about that, said: "We've always said that we will watch every development in South Vietnam and we are doing..."

As for contacts, he said, "we have made it our position not to discuss one way or the other" whether these are being carried on.

McCartney said secret contacts were made to find out whether present Hanoi officials might be more favorable inclined to seek an end to the war.

Collins' Lawyer Says Police Had Faulty Warrant

ANN ARBOR (AP) — One of John Norman Collins' defense attorneys said Friday that a search of the accused coed killer's 1968 Oldsmobile was unauthorized because of a faulty search warrant.

In moving to have prosecution evidence suppressed, Robert Francis stated in a pretrial hearing for the 22-year-old Collins that police had searched the car on the grounds that fingerprints of two other slain coeds might be found.

Car Not Built Yet

Francis, pointing out that the car was not built when Mary Fleszar was killed in 1967 and that Collins did not own the car when Joan Schell died a year later, accused Prosecutor William Delhey of using the search warrant for a "fishing expedition." He said Delhey "smelled a trail and went hunting with a shotgun.

Collins is accused of killing Karen Sue Beineman, an 18-year-old Eastern Michigan University freshman from Grand Rapids. Her nude, beaten body was found July 26 near Ann Arbor. She was last seen on July 23, riding away from an Ypsilanti wig shop on a motorcycle driven by a young man.

Judge Studies Case

Circuit Court Judge John W. Conlin, who is considering several defense motions before setting a trial date, said he would consider an attack on the legality of Collins' arrest at another hearing next Wednesday. Attorney Francis contended that Collins was arrested Aug. 1 only to obtain his fingerprints. Francis, who was with Collins when he was formally arrested at the Plymouth State Police crime laboratory, said he had refused to permit fingerprinting prior to the arrest.

Francis' mention of the two other slain coeds marked the first time other names had been made a part of the court record. Police continue to investigate six other similar slayings in the area during the past two years, but refuse to speculate on any possible connection. Miss Fleszar, an Eastern Michigan coed, disappeared July 9, 1967 and her body was found a month later. Five other young girls—including three coeds—died between the Fleszar death and the death of Miss Beineman.

Second Coed To Die

Joan Schell was the second to die. She was last seen June 30, 1968 accepting a ride with three young men in a late model car.

Collins would have been a senior this fall at Eastern Michigan where he was studying to become a teacher.

Power Co. Rate Hearing Slated

LANSING (AP) — A hearing on an already-approved $38 million per year rate increase by Consumers Power Co. has been scheduled for Oct. 16 by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The hearing will be held at the request of state Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who had termed the increase "excessive" when it was approved on Monday.

Setting of the hearing date means the $21.3 million natural gas increase and the $16.5 million electricity rate increase won't take effect until at least that day.

The new rate schedule filed Friday by Consumers Power distributes the 6.2 per cent electric and 10 per cent natural gas increases among several classes of customers.

The new rates would cost the minimum residential electricity user 38 cents a month and the minimum gas user 60 cents.

In filing the new rate schedule, the firm claimed that $21 million of the $38 million increase would eventually go to various taxing agencies.

The delay in putting the new rates into effect drew a protest from company chairman A. H. Aymond in Jackson. "Delay in putting the increased rates... into effect compounds the loss the company already experienced," he said. The firm claims that each day's delay in making the rates effective costs it $100,000.

Kelley said he is studying the possibility of a court appeal of the rate increase.

Peking Releases British Newsman

HONG KONG (AP) — The release of British newsman Anthony Grey after two years' house detention in Peking leaves at least 44 foreigners jailed or detained in Communist China.

Information available in Hong Kong lists 9 Americans, 12 Britons, 14 Japanese, 8 West Germans and one Belgian still being held by the Chinese.

Marquette Prisoner Honored By Faithful

LANSING (AP)—Members of the White Panther Party staged a demonstration Friday in the Capitol to underscore their plea for a high level investigation of the circumstances surrounding the arrest, conviction and imprisonment of John Sinclair, the party's minister of information and manager of the MC5, an acid rock group.

The group of nearly 40 party members met with Joseph Thibodeau, assistant legal advisor to Gov. William Milliken, to plead their case that Sinclair was "snatched away for political reasons."

In U.P. Prison

The 29-year-old Sinclair recently was transferred from the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson to Northern Michigan State Prison at Marquette after being sentenced to 9½ to 10 years imprisonment following his third conviction for marijuana possession.

Perry Johnson, deputy director of the State Bureau of Prisons, recently said that Sinclair was transferred to the maximum security prison because of fears of unrest.

Sinclair attempted to persuade other prisoners to accept the beliefs of the White Panther party that include free drugs, free food and promiscuous sex, Johnson said.

Fears For Life?

However, a White Pather spokesman declared, "he fears for his life at Marquette. He asked for solitary confinement."

Transfer to the maximum security prison won't cause Sinclair to change his beliefs, he added.

"All they're going to do is make him look like a funny old man—cutting all his hair off," he said.

In addition, the Panthers charged that Sinclair was denied bail during his appeal, and that his letters were confiscated and read by prison officials.

Probe Under Way

Thibodeau told the group that he was conducting an investigation of the circumstances surrounding Sinclair's conviction at the request of Milliken.

However, Thibodeau said, he had uncovered nothing to substantiate charges that Sinclair was prosecuted for political reasons.

Following the meeting, the group passed out copies of "The South End," a Wayne State University student paper, that contained a statement of Sinclair's belief while a tape recorder blared the hard rock strains of "The Grateful Dead" in the Capitol rotunda.

Signed petitions calling for the release of Sinclair also were lowered from the balcony while a member waved the purple and white flag of the White Panthers.

Talks To Librarians:

Rare Books Need Tender Love And Care: Hathaway

One of the highlights of the MEA conference was a special interest talk to the Michigan Association of School Librarians by Richard Hathaway, head of the Michigan Unit of the Michigan State Library, Lansing, who spoke Thursday on the importance of preserving rare books in Michigan.

"I don't think any of us, being librarians, would disagree with the importance of books," he said. "However, the way in which many librarians treat books can make one wonder."

"One of the main purposes of this talk (and some others I have given) is to attempt to prevent librarians from becoming enemies of books. In the world of collectors, rare book curators and dealers, most librarians are looked upon as destroyers."

Appreciation

"Despite these somewhat vehement words, I am not unaware of four mitigating factors:

"First, what I said is not true of all librarians, possibly it is true of only a minority.

"Second, library schools (and sometimes library advisors) have not emphasized the appreciation of books, meaning the historical and cultural artifact and a work of art.

"Third, in many small and medium sized public libraries and in most school libraries there is neither the time, space, nor training available to adequately evaluate and care for old books.

"Fourth, we live in a technological world of rapid innovation and change. I do not want to sound like a reactionary. In fact, I feel that the possibilities of data processing and microreproduction are just beginning to be usefully applied to libraries. But these systems will not replace the books, only supplement them and make them easier to find and use," he said.

"What I am really looking for, being realistic, is not every librarian trained as a rare book specialist and historian; rather I wish to see every librarian (public, school, academic, special) have at least a rudimentary knowledge of printing and bookmaking and an appreciation of the book not just as a medium to convey information but as an important cultural and historical item in itself."

Age And Value

The question becomes what is it that makes a book worth preservation and sought after by librarians and collectors, Hathaway said.

"There is no single factor which determines the value of a book; rather, there are at least eight factors to be considered.

"The most obxious one is age. Often, however, this is of minor importance. For example, one of the most difficult to obtain and expensive Michigan books was printed in 1951 in paperback," he continued.

"About the only true statement to be made concerning the relation of age of books to value is that the older a book is, the more likely it is to be valuable.

"A second factor influencing value is, for want of a better term, Firsts. There are, essentially, two kinds of firsts in the book world: the first book or pamphlet printed in a given area and the first book of an author or the first edition of a work. Either one of these firsts will tend to make a book more desirable. To my mind, a first edition, in order to be desirable and valuable must also have the third factor, importance.

Price Guides

"Importance is a term which means many things to many people. Did the book in question make a difference? Does it illuminate the mind of a man or shed important light on historical events? Is it the work of a noted author? Does it tell us something we could not find otherwise? Importance is, I think, the single most significant fact in determining the work of a book.

"Scarcity is also an important factor. How many books were printed? Was the book stock destroyed?

"When evaluating the relative values of copies of the same book condition becomes all important. Is the book in the original binding? Are all of the pages and illustrations present? Many other seemingly minor considerations can make the difference between a $10 and a $100 copy," he said.

"There is no one sure guide to price values. The two best are American Book Prices Current and Bookman's Price Index But to make a truly accurate judgment in most cases, a great deal of judgment has to be exercised on the part of the appraiser. This takes knowledge and experience," Hathaway said.

"Mini-courses," a two-week program of courses chosen and run by the seniors at the end of the school year, "turned on" the Hamilton, Mass., students and won enthusiastic faculty support, Today's Education reports.

SCHOOLS HAVE A WEALTH of new books offered them every year. Book displays were featured at the MEA conference that closed Friday. Tomahawk Put Aside In Indian Dealings

HART (AP) — Michigan's Ottawa Indians have dropped the tomahawk and are adopting the weapons of organization and democracy to try and get back what they claim is owed by the white settlers.

The Grand River bands of the Ottawa tribes already have a promise of a settlement of $874,000 in repayment for Indian lands they say were stolen years ago by broken treaties.

They will meet around council fires at the Oceana County fairgrounds in Hart this Saturday and Sunday to organize a nonprofit corporation to obtain additional federal aid.

Settlement Far Off

Joe Charlow of Lansing, organizer of the successful raid on the federal treasury for nearly $1 million, says it probably will be another seven or eight years before there is a settlement.

"But what's a few years more," he shrugged. "We've already waited 100 years."

Charlow, articulate as a carnival barker, likes to put on his white brothers by talking broken Indian.

Charlow explained the delay in the cash land settlement claim this way:

"It's in the hands of the Indian agent in Washington," he said. "It will be there until officials decide to whom it should be distributed."

Pow Wow Planned

About 1,000 members of the Ottawa tribe from Oceana, Mason, Ottawa and Lake counties are expected for the town hall-type pow wow.

Many of the Indians will sleep in trucks or trailers. The spillover still is expected to stretch housing facilities at Hart, population 3,000, to the limit.

The group will incorporate to obtain help for education, housing, care for the aged, vocational guidance, and preservation of their native arts and crafts.

Membership Sold

Membership in the corporation will be sold at $5 per family or $2 per individual to raise the initial funds.

Qualification to belong to the Indian bands and share in the land settlement is based on the so-called Durandt Roll, an Indian census taken around the turn of the century.

Main speaker Saturday will be Sen. Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, who has been legislative leader in pressing for benefits for the red man.

The bands will adopt a constitution and bylaws Sunday followed by an election of officers.

"We must organize," Charlow said, "or we will have nothing going for us. As a nonprofit corporation we will be eligible for federal assistance just like anyone else."

Farm Census To Be Done By Mail

The 1969 census of agriculture will be conducted entirely by mail with no census takers involved, Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today.

The Bureau of the Census announces that in January, 1970, every operator of a farm or ranch will receive a census form by mail and will be asked to fill it out and mail it back.

Chairman Smith added that in addition to the number and acreage of farms, the agricultural census will ask farmers for an estimate of values of land and buildings, amount of time farm operators worked at off-farm jobs, and number of autos, trucks, tractors, combines and corn pickers.

U.P. Group Asks For More Housing

MARQUETTE — Action is being taken by Marquette and Alger County clergymen to form an Upper Peninsula nonprofit corporation which would sponsor housing programs for low to moderate income families.

A meeting for this purpose will be held in the Newman Center here at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 5, and if representation from all or most of the 15 counties in the region is large enough steps will be taken for formation of such an agency.

At first intending to organize only a Marquette-Alger corporation, 20 persons representing 12 churches in the two counties authorized a move toward expanding the proposed group at a meeting in the Newman Center Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Michael F. DeFant, Marquette, chamber of the Alger-Marquette Community Action Board's committee for better housing, served as chairman of the gathering.

Speaking at the session were Peter Bornstein, AMCAB director, and Richar Dodge, Escanaba, representative of UP-CAP (U.P. Committee for Area Progress).

The latter urged formation of the Peninsula-wide organization pointing out that operating costs would be only slightly higher than would be required for a two-county unit and that it would have "much greater impact" in sending proposals to state and federal housing authorities.

The clergymen accepted his proposal as well as Bornstein's offer to disseminate information to churchmen in other U.P. counties.

Dodge also declared that about $25,000 raised by such a nonprofit corporation would produce millions of dollars for a housing program in the Peninsula.

A spokesman for the group stressed that formation of a non-profit corporation which could sponsor housing for low to moderate income families would not place the group in competition with local builders and realtors nor would its aim be in conflict with objectives of local housing commissions.

"Our target group would be families i nthe $4,000 to $7,000 salary range," he said.

"Such persons, while above the public housing qualification range, usually are not in position to make the required down payment in purchasing homes today."

Duck Regulations To Be Enforced By DNR Officers

"All duck hunting regulations will be strictly enforced this year," said Robert Timmre, district law supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Timmer also reminds duck hunters of a law passed last year relative to waterfowl hunting blinds which will be enforced this year.

"The law states that no person shall erect on, anchor, or attach to the bottomlands of the Great Laske, Lake St. Clair, and the bays thereof or the connecting waters between the Great Lakes or any public inland lake or river or in any lake which is not wholly owned by himself, his lessor or licensor, a blind or any other structure used or to be used in the hunting of migratory waterfowl unless there shall first be affixed permanently to the exterior thereof the name and address of such person in legible letters of water insoluble material not less than three inches in height," Timmer said.

According to the law, no person shall affix a fictitious name or address or both to said blind or structure or remove his name and address prior to the date prescribed for removal of the blind from the water.

"Any person who erects, anchore, or attaches such blind to the bottomlands hereinbefore described shall remove the entire blind including submerged supporting members within 15 days after the close of the waterfowl hunting season in each year. If not removed within that time the Department may cause its removal or destruction and assess owner the cost of removal or storage or destruction in addition to fines and costs, Timmer explained.

Timmer further states that this law will be strictly enforced by all officers this year as the law has been in effect for one year now and blinds will be identified and removed as directed by law.

As another reminder to hunters, the basic bag limit this season is four ducks per day, not to include more than one canvasback or redhead; one mallard, one black duck, and two wood duck.

Shooting hours for the Escanaba area from Oct. 1 to Oct. 31 are from 7:15 a. m. to 5.45 p. m. EST, reports Timmer.

In New York state an accident report must be filed by the operator of any vessel, including rowboats and canoes, involved in an accident in which there is property damage exceeding $100 or death or injury to any person.

Free Weekend To Florida May Be High Cost

Land salesmen who have used "free weekend vacation" gimmicks to get a foot in the door with prospective buyers have been clobbered by the Florida land sales board.

Only vacation certificates approved by the board may now be offered to lure prospects from the north. It must be spelled out that the only free item is a hotel room and that a sales pitch awaits recipients when they hit Florida.

A chamber of commerce official estimated earlier that 60,000 persons a month were coming to Florida under this system.

The Florida land sales board said recipients must now know what they're getting into. It must be plainly spelled out in certificates what will be paid by the contest people and whether or not a real estate pitch is a must when they hit the land of sunshine.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

LEGAL NOTICES

Rock, Michigan
June 9, 1969

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Education of the Rock Public School District #9 was held in the High School Gymnasium on Monday, June 9, 1969.

The meeting was called to order by Selma Weldum, Treasurer of the Board of Education.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

The Board of Election Inspectors and Clerks were duly assigned to their duties in accordance with the provisions of the statutes of the State of Michigan. Stray Bullet Kills Man Cradling Son

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP) — As Hayward Henry Dyer, 22, stood in the middle of a room cradling his infant son, a stray rifle shot from the apartment above crashed through the ceiling and struck him in the head.

Dyer was killed instantly Friday. He dropped 22-month-old Francis as he crumbled to the floor. The tot suffered minor cuts.

Officers said the shot was fired accidentally by a policeman—one of 12 officers who had mistakenly crashed into Dyer's mother-in-law's apartment moments before. Armed with search warrants, they were making a predawn raid for marijuana and had come to the wrong apartment.

Dyer who lived upstairs—but not in the apartment police wanted to search—heard his mother-in-law, Florence Meehan, and her 12-year-old daughter Susie screaming at the officers.

He ran down to his mother-in-law's apartment to investigate, as officers—realizing their mistake—went upstairs to the apartment listed on their warrant.

It was directly above Mrs. Meehan's apartment. The .22-caliber shot was fired by Vernon Detective Sgt. Frank Sweeney as he held his rifle, barrel down, pointed at the floor above Mrs. Meehan's ceiling, Vernon Police Chief Robert H. Backhacker said.

The chief said the sergeant was asked to join seven state narcotics agents and four sheriff's deputies on the raid. Backhacker said he did not know why Sweeney carried a rifle, and said there would be an investigation.

Sweeney, he said, was "pretty shaken up about it."

Officers said no arrests were made in the upstairs apartment B. One man in apartment D—above and to the side of Mrs. Meehan's—was arrested for investigation of possession of marijuana and dangerous drugs

Soon To Retire? Check Now With Social Security

Traditionally many people retire at the end of the year, and it isn't too early for these people to apply for social security benefits, says Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager in Escanaba.

Applications for benefit payments can be made as early as three months before retirement age. Early filing can speed up the processing of claims so that there is a smooth transition from the regular pay check to the regular social security benefit check.

If convenient, it's a good idea to call the social security office before coming in to fill out the claim, Williams continued, so that the applicant will know what to bring along.

Two Robbers Hit Manistique Store

MANISTIQUE — The People's Store was robbed Friday night by two men who fled on foot down Cedar Street, bumping into Friday night shoppers, and made their escape with about $150. The robbery occurred at 8 p. m., publis safety officers said.

Store personnel told the police that one man — described as "in his late thirties and wearing a dark suit" — went up to the store's second floor deserted office and took the money from an unlocked safe.

A second man, described as being in his early forties, around six feet tall, 160 pounds, dark hair and wearing a full-length tan trench coat, remained on the store's main business floor and kept two clerks occupied while his companion was in the office.

The two men ran out of the store, bumping and pushing past shoppers as they ran north on Cedar Street. They turned onto Walnut Street and disappeared, witnesses said.

The two men are believed to be unarmed, officers said. They were not recognized by witnesses.

John P. Miller, assistant store manager, said the robbers were in the store less than five minutes. There were only about five customers in the store during the robbery, he added. Miller said he did not see the two men as he was in a back room during the robbery.

A state-wide alert has been issued for the apprehension of the robbers. State Police are assisting in the robbery investigation.

Our Enviroment

What is the condition of our environment? How is it with our air, water, soil, timber, wildlife and minerals? Not very good, according to a National Index of Environmental Quality released recently by the National Wildlife Federation.

The index, the first of its kind (others will be compiled and released annually), is published in the current issue of National Wildlife Magazine. It rates all of our natural resources on a scale ranging from Very Bad to Good, and the total picture is tilted far to the bad side.

In fact, the index points out clearly that the United States — the world's richest, most powerful nation — is going downhill at a disturbing rate, forecasting a third-rate life for future generations unless massive action is taken now to blunt the assaults on our environment.

Rather surprisingly for persons who live in the Upper Peninsula, air pollution is rated as the most serious threat to environmental quality. Also surprisingly, the principal villain is not industry, but automobile exhaust. By far the greatest pollutant of air, automobile exhaust is followed by home heating, industry and refuse burning. The 1969 index for air quality is Very Bad.

Water quality gets a rating that is only slightly better. Its index is Bad. The magazine notes that more than 2,000 communities still discharge raw sewage and that industries have influenced many state water quality standards to allow increased pollution. Michigan took a big stride forward in the fight against water pollution when its voters last November approved the biggest bond issue in the state's history — $355,000,000 for control of water pollution.

A rating of only Fair is given to soil quality, despite improved soil sciences and agricultural practices. More than $1 billion is stolen annually from 180 million acres of cropland in the United States by wind and water erosion, according to estimates of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

A Fair rating also is given timber, or forest quality. Although it may be difficult for Upper Peninsulans to envisage, timber supply is declining nationally every year. A wood shortage threatens unless foresters find the means to avert it.

Wildlife also gets a Fair rating, but with bleak prospects. Eighty-nine species are officially listed as endangered in a nation which has seen approximately 40 bird and mammal species exterminated in the past 150 years. Principal threats to wildlife are shrinking natural habitat and inroads made by pollution and pesticide contamination.

Only mineral quality receives a rating of Good, and even here the graders say there is an urgent need for a new national policy for exploitation of these valuable non-renewable resources.

Thomas Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, commented on the results of the First National Index of Environmental Quality.

"The prospects are extremely disturbing, but not really too surprising," he said. "You get just what you pay for, and far less than one per cent of every tax dollar goes into programs even remotely related to protection and improvement of our environment."

Mrs. Ebba Schneider of Iron Mountain has been picked by Beta Sigma Nu Sorority of that city as the 1969 "First Lady of Dickinson County." Mrs. Schneider has spent much of her life working with retarded persons. During World War II she worked as a Red Cross hospital nurses aide and later devoted much of her time to a cancer clinic in Baltimore. Returning to Iron Mountain 10 years ago, she answered an advertisement to become a teacher for retarded children and, as a result of her response, a day center was started. She also has spent many hours with mental patients in the VA hospital.

When he returned the next morning, he found that some honest tourists had discovered the unlocked pumps. Shouts by a cellmate and quick action by Sheriff Donald Powelson and a deputy prevented a 16-year-old Flint youth from committing suicide in the Ontonagon County jail. The youth, being held emporarily for disposition of delinquency charges arising from an alleged burglary in the Mass area, tried to hang himself by tearing his stockings into strips, tying them together and then supporting the noose from the bars by use of a pillow case. The sheriff credited the outcry from a man who was sharing a cell with the youth, and the man's help in suppotring the body while the uoose was being cut, with saving his life. The youth was unconscious before Powelson and Deputy Albert Taro were able to get into the cellblock to help, but was revived moments later.

Due Process Is Dim For U.S. Business

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The "Warren Court," which happily is no more, was always extremely solicitous of guaranteeing the mystic thing known as "due process of law" to criminals.

The Court's decisions in "Escobedo v. Illinois" (which established the right of a suspect to remain mum until he had consulted a lawyer) and "Miranda v. Arizona" (which insisted that the police inform an arrested person that he need not answer even the simplest questions) have been criticized for giving protection to the individual at the expense of socity. Whether this concern for the rights of suspects has undermined police morale, as Richard Nixon seemed to think when he was still only a Presidential aspirant, "Escobedo v. Illinois" and "Miranda v. Arizona" will probably stand up for a while even though the "Warren Court" is in process of being reconstituted.

But what of "due process" as it is applied to U. S. business? Between 1953 and 1967 the Government took a total of forty-five anti-trust cases to the Supreme Court. It won forty-two of them. As Justice Potter Stewart put it, "in anti-trust the Government always wins." And in the winning, the rules prescribing "due process of law" have sometimes been honored in the breach, not in the observance.

The layman must be forever mystified by the reasoning in certain anti-trust cases. When Youngstown Steel was denied the right to merge with Bethlehem Steel on the grounds that it might decrease competition, it made neither economic nor logical sense. Youngstown's plants were all in the Middle West, and a combination with Bethlehem would have enabled the latter company to compete more effectively with huge U. S. Steel in the Chicago region without affecting competition on the Atlantic seaboard.

An even stranger case is the one in which the Supreme Court has ruled against the merger of the El Paso Natural Gas Company and the Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corporation after the Federal Power Commission, which is supposed to have regulatory jurisdiction over gas pipelines, had cleared the transaction.

The El Paso case is incredibly complex. When the company merged ten years ago with Pacific Northwest, the idea was that the hook-up would help make natural gas from the Southwest more cheaply available to people in the State of Washington. But the Supreme Court ruled that, since Pacific Northwest was a potential competitor with El Paso in the California market (even though it then had no pipeline connection with California), the merger violated the Clayton Anti-Trust Act. The management of El Paso was never able to understand the Court's reasoning, for, since the date of the Court's first decision, other pipeline companies have moved into the California area to provide El Paso with much competition for that particular market. Moreover, the gas consumers of the Pacific Northwest area have manifestly benefited by having a more plentiful gas supply than they had before the merger took place.

It is not the anti-trust reasoning, however, that is now troubling El Paso; it is the fact that the Supreme Court has let El Paso's attempt to divest itself of the Pacific Northwest Pipeline properties hang in limbo ever since 1964. Altogether the El Paso case has been before the Supreme Court four times in a decade. Twice the Supreme Court refused to let the pro-merger decisions of a lower court stand. Then, when the El Paso Company had worked out a divestiture plan that met with the approval of both the Department of Justice and a lower court, the Supreme Court reversed the district court decision and ordered a new trial and a new plan of divestiture. Back went the case to the lower court, where a new trial judge ruled that Colorado Interstate Corporation was the best qualified to acquire El Paso's Northwest pipeline. But the Supreme Court intervened once more, ordering still another trial.

The legal rights and wrongs of all this are enough to confound any layman. But the point is that the Supreme Court has yet to listen to an El Paso lawyer present the company's own case. "A day in court is all that we are asking," says a company spokesman.

Justice Harlan has said of the Court's refusal to give due process to a major pipeline company that "all semblance of judicial procedure has been discarded in the headstrong effort to reach a result that four members of this Court believe desirable." Common criminals, it seems, have made out better with the Court than American businessmen who have been trying to obey the law.

Moon Crash In Apollo 12 Plans

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — After they explore the moon next month, the Apollo 12 astronauts plan to send their unmanned landing craft crashing to the surface from a height of 65 miles to create a giant seismic shock.

The impact, measured by a seismometer, could reveal much about the internal structure of the lunar mass.

Assigned to the mission, scheduled for launching Nov. 14, is an all-Navy crew of Cmdrs. Charles Conrad and Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. Alan L. Bean. Conrad and Bean are to land in the Ocean of Storms while Gordon orbits overhead.

Bean, the only rookie on the team, described the project's planned experiments at a news conference Thursday night.

He said the deliberate crashing of the lunar module, or LM, is to occur after the two explorers launch themselves off the moon and rejoin Gordon in the command ship, 65 miles above the surface.

"Gordon will maneuver the LM to the proper attitude for the burn," Bean explained. "Then we'll move away and fire up the jets to start the LM out of orbit. We hope to track it all the way down.

"We'd like to crash it about one kilometer from the seismometer. The impact ought to really excite it and we can infer a lot about the internal structure of the moon."

A record of the resulting shock wave, for example, could tell whether the moon is layered, like the earth, or more solid.

The wing span of an osprey, a fish hawk resembling the bald eagle, is 4½ to 6 feet.

Several Objectives Advocated By Hare

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James Hare is making one last try while still in office to push a package of bills for election reform, highway safety and driver improvement through the Legislature.

Hare has announced he will not seek the job again after his present term runs out at the end of 1970. He gave as a main reason in addition to poor health the failure of lawmakers to support his legislative proposals.

Most of the legislative package Hare is recommending again this year is familiar. Many of the proposals have been rejected one, two, three times or more by the Legislature.

Hare listed his primary objectives for the 1970 legislative session as including the following:

—Total reform of financial disclosure laws with particular emphasis on more effective controls over political campaign contributions and spending.

—Establishment of a medical evaluation committee to screen drivers who might be suffering from physical or mental ailments.

—A provision that private physicians could submit confidential reports on physical conditions or drug taking that might impair driving ability.

—Abolishment of the present Driver License Appeal Board with its duties to be taken over by personnel of the secretary of state's office.

—A takeover by the secretary of state's office of all driver license examining, eliminating such examinations by local police jurisdictions.

—Permission to revoke licenses of motorists who have been called in for re - examination four times within five years and who have at least 12 points on their records.

State regulation of private driver education schools.

—A driver license compact for an exchange of information with other states.

—Establishment of the so-called Illinois system, allowing police to pick up the license of a motorist charged with a violation until he appears in court. The violation notice would serve as a temporary driving permit.

—A limited motor vehicle inspection program, leading up to eventual periodic vehicle inspection in future years.

Opening lead—nine of clubs.

Some mistakes are much easier to make than others. Here is one that almost anybody might make.

South was in four hearts and West led a club. Declarer won in dummy with the king and led the queen of hearts. East grabbed the ace and returned his singleton diamond.

West had no trouble reading the return. He won with the ace and led back the queen. Dummy played the king, which East ruffed, and South later lost a spade trick to go down one.

The outcome was somewhat unlucky, yet South's defeat was largely his own fault. At the point when West returned the queen of diamonds, South could have nailed down the contract by not playing the king from dummy.

Suppose he had ducked the queen, as he should have done. Then it would not have mattered what West played next. South would have had ten iron-clad tricks, none of which could be taken away from him.

If West continued with the ten of diamonds, dummy would duck again, thus preserving the king as a trick. South would ruff the ten, draw trumps, and later discard a spade on the king of diamonds. His only losers would be the ace of hearts and A-Q of diamonds.

There is no doubt that many declarers would instinctively play dummy's king of diamonds on West's queen. It would not occur to them that ducking the queen and conceding that trick to West is merely an exchange of one loser for another. They would not realize that this trick is recoverable later because an otherwise sure spade loser is simultaneously averted.

The duck is simply a safety play to preserve the ten high-card tricks South is looking at. It protects the contract against every possible accident of fate and is therefore the right play to make.

Winning Contests Not Stroke Of Luck

Dear Ann Landers: Do you believe a person can be a born loser? If so, I am the all-time champ. Please tell me if you think it is luck, stupidity or the star I was born under.

I have been buying sweepstakes tickets since 1955 and I've never won a thing. I've entered hundreds of word contests, written dozens of limericks, clipped coupons, named horses, dogs and bears. I'm ashamed to tell you how much money I've spent on dictionaries, special writing equipment, drawing equipment and sewing equipment. I've never won a nickel's worth.

I'm a high school graduate, not brilliant, but not stupid, either. I'm certainly more literate than 80 per cent of the morons I hear on the night talk shows. So what's wrong with me?

I realize this problem is not serious compared with some you receive, but I'm developing an inferiority complex. What goes? — Mrs. Also Ran

Dear Mrs.: Some people are indeed luckier than others, but winning contests is more than luck.

The people who win contests — particularly the juicy ones — are very nearly professionals. They've been at it for a long time and have learned the ropes. These seasoned contestants are well versed in methods of protecting their entries against being eliminated on a "technicality." They know how to make an entry appealing. (Often they send in several.) Those happy winners are imaginative, creative, persistent, thorough — and lucky.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to "Suffering Plenty" and to all others who are considering divorce. I hope you'll help me, Ann. I'm not very good at writing, so please rewrite my letter and make it fit for the paper.

Dear S. P.: Pay no attention to your family's advice. Especially your mother's. After all, she doesn't care what happens to you. She is only interested in protecting the family name. So long as there is the slightest chance of remaining married, DON'T GIVE UP.

When the grocery money has been spent on women and liquor, hang on and tighten your belt. After all, he still has an occasional kind word for you. He appreciates the fine job you do on his laundry.

When the power company shuts off the lights, find some candles. When the heat is turned off, use blankets. Once you've decided you've had enough call your father (collect, of course) and ask him to bring a coat and a pair of shoes for you to come home in.

After you're rested up at home, borrow your mother's clothes and go find yourself a job. When your husband sees you looking like your old self again he may want to share your paycheck He'll tell you he has changed and he'll promise you the moon. Although he has lied to you a zillion times you're sure this time he's on the level. Pay no attention to your parents. After all, this is YOUR life and you have a right to wreck it if you want to. Go back to your husband and start the whole rotten mess over again. — Made The Scene

Dear Made: Here's your letter — exactly as you wrote it. Thanks for another point of view.

Long Hair Fails To Get Past Judge

DETROIT (AP) — A federal judge has refused to order immediate reinstatement in school of 13 students expelled because they wear beards, long hair and sideburns or mustaches.

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) had asked U.S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow to issue a temporary restraining order against nine school boards because the students are being denied their rights to self-expression and freedom of speech.

Without expressing any opinion on the merits of the case, Gubow said he could not justify handing down such an order at this time. He said he would hold a full hearing on the matter later.

An ACLU attorney argued that expulsion of the students because they didn't cut their hair was "cruel and unusual punishment" in violation of the U.S. Constitution.

But school board attorneys argued that any student who feels he is being deprived of a constitutionally guaranteed education may reenter school by getting a haircut or shave.

The Wyandotte school code, explained attorney William Saxton, forbids hair that hangs over the collar, the ears or eyes.

"Other than that," he said, "they can look like Australian bushmen if they choose ... These students just want to be defiant, and they want this court to support them.

"A trip to the barber shop will further all their educations."

House Passes $23.35 Billion Arms Package

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a $21 35 billion military spending package, including President Nixon's Safeguard ABM system, after one of the bitterest public fights of the year.

The bill—slightly more expensive than when passed by the Senate—received 311 to 44 approval in the House Friday night after a debate marked by shouting matches, charges of open vote maneuvering and claims by spending critics they were muzzled.

It gives Nixon the go-ahead to deploy his version of the anti-ballistic missile system, leaves intact $481 million for 23 more of the controversial C5A supercargo planes and contains $1 billion more for ships than the administration asked.

Efforts by critics of military spending to cut those and other projects totaling $2.2 billion were defeated during the week-long House consideration of the measure.

The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee in which differences between versions passed by each chamber will be worked out.

Occasional angry exchanges between supporters and critics of military spending Wednesday and Thursday became the dominant feature of heated debate Friday.

Critics claimed they were being run over roughshod when debate on the Advanced Manned Strategic bomber was cut off by voice vote after only six minutes.

They protested again when debate was limited to 47 seconds per speaker on a proposal to cut $136 million from three bomber defense projects.

Armed Services Committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., accused critics in general of distorting facts and accused Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., of "heaping abuse" on the chairman, other committee members and the committee staff.

Leggett had said military spending has risen $10 billion a year since Rivers became chairman compared to $1.4 billion before and that the committee staff echoes Rivers' views at the expense of dissidents.

El Salvador is the smallest and the most densely populated country in Central America. Some 3,151,000 people, or 380 persons per square mile, crowd an area about the size of Massachusetts.

Library Offering Special Aids To Help Handicapped

The President of the United States issues a proclamation annually designating the first week of October as the time to focus employer and public attention on the capabilities of persons with physical, mental and emotional impairments.

Many readers of talking and large print books will be among the handicapped workers who will be saluted for their contributions to the economy during National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, Oct. 5-11.

The Escanaba Public Library will have on display a talking book machine, and the services of the Blind and Physically Handicapped Library are available to those who are unable to read or use normal printed material as a result of physical limitations. Information may be obtained at the Escanaba Public Library concerning this service.

A collection of large print books especially designated for readers with failing eye sight will be on display. Some of the inspiring books which have been written about handicapped persons who have surmounted impairments to become contributors to society will be available for circulation.

Interested residents are urged to visit the library to learn more about the services and facilities available to help handicapped persons become employable, including library service to those unable to read conventional print.

Repudiation Of Students May Haunt Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican senator says President Nixon may be haunted by his repudiation of student protests against the Vietnam war.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois said the statement undoubtedly will be used against the President time and again.

"As a matter of realism," Percy said Friday, "any president would be affected by any movement as widespread as that movement is."

Nixon said Sept. 26 he expects continuing opposition to the war on campuses and elsewhere. "... We expect it," he said, "however, under no circumstances will I be affected by it."

At least three senators, Republican Charles E. Goodell of New York and Democrats George McGovern of South Dakota and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, already have accepted campus engagements in support of an Oct. 15 war protest movement.

Student organizers are planning a moratorium on normal activity on that day, to turn instead to teach-ins and other protests aimed against the war.

Percy said he will be in Brussels Oct. 15, for a NATO meeting, but he offered a guarded endorsement of the protest, saying it probably would be an effective device.

"I certainly would never want to discourage any contribution to a constructive dialogue," he said.

Percy also termed impractical the proposal of Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania for a 60-day moratorium on Vietnam policy criticism.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., No. 2 Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, said the pressures being aimed at Nixon "are not competely devoid of politics.

"The conduct of a war just like the conduct of peace negotiations cannot be handled on the floor of the U.S. Senate nor in the halls of the House of Representatives," Sparkman said.

Percy proposed that the United States halt offensive operations in South Vietnam, and end bombing missions there, "as long as the enemy takes no advantage of the situation."

He said such a peace initiative would be in line with Nixon's effort to reduce the level of combat and prod Communist negotiators to action in the stalled peace talks.

Copies Sent Out

Copies of the letter were sent to Judiciary Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and the committee's senior GOP member, Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska who earlier met with newsmen to defend Haynsworth in a full dress news conference.

It was Hruska who released the Nixon letter late in the day. He accompanied it with a statement of his own branding Nixon's reported plans to allow Haynsworth to withdraw his name as "false and completely unfounded rumors."

Besides the Nixon letter and the Eastland-Hruska news conference, statements supporting Haynsworth, who is now on the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals, came from Sens. Gordon Allott of Colorado and John Tower of Texas.

Jr. Achievers Form 3 Firms

This year's Junior Achievement Companies were formed at the Junior Achievement business center recently under the supervision of John Greis, manager of J.A. of Escanaba.

The teenage members of the three Junior Achievement companies met with their adult advisers to organize their corporations.

Adult advisers to the Junior firms explained to the young people the manner in which they would operated during the coming year, showing them a charter application, explaining the necessity for a business to be properly chartered, and called for suggestions on a product to be manufactured, and made some suggestions themselves. The teenagers, after weighing the advantages and disadvantages, decided on their products.

The next item on their agenda was deciding a name for each company. These are El-Co, Achieve-Co and Win-Co.

The advisers explained the necessity of capital to finance the venture, and it was decided that capital should be raised through the sale of stock at $1 per share. The teenagers prepared prospectus for use in selling their stock and voted on initial capitalization.

Junior Achievement companies are counseled by advisers from the Escanaba Paper Co., Harnischfeger Corp., State Bank, Northern Michigan National Bank, Clairmont Transfer Co., and Delta Home Improvement.

Roosevelt received his recent divorce on the grounds of incompatability from his third wife, the former Gladys Irene Kitchenmaster, who was accused of stabbing him a week after he filed for the divorce last spring.

Record Pace Set In Auto Buying

DETROIT (AP)—Americans, said to be growing cautious in their purchase of nonessentials, bought new cars at a record rate in September.

All four American automakers announced records of one sort or another.

Even tiny American Motors, which many times discloses sales figures only when asked, volunteered its September sales of 21,121 as "the highest for that month in five years."

Sales during the month were spurred by introduction of the 1970 models and bargains on remaining stocks of 1969s. Industry sales for September totaled 709,388 cars.

Sales for the first three quarters were 6,303,636 which was second only to 1965 when the industry registered 6,397,199 new car sales through September.

Last year through nine months the automakers sold 6,275,829 cars.

The University of Michigan's Survey Research Center reports that consumer attitudes and expectations deteriorated sharply in the third quarter.

George Katona, one of the center's economists, said, however that the sharp decline in willingness to buy detected in interviews with a representative group of consumers, apparently does not extend to cars.

"Expressed intentions to buy continue to be relatively frequent, especially for used cars," the center's report stated.

With a strong finish the industry could top the record 1965 domestic sales figure of 8.7 million cars.

The automakers are oozing confidence.

Negro, White Stepdaughter Stay Together

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The 73-year-old Negro woman clasped the hand of her white stepdaughter and said:

"She's my baby. I told them if they take her from me they can go ahead and throw me in the grave."

Then Stella Jimmerson released the hand of the 19-year-old retarded girl she adopted at the age of five weeks. It was Wednesday night and time for both to be taken from a hospital to a nursing home, thanks to $8,743 in donations received from across the nation.

After Mrs. Jimmerson's husband Iverson died in August, neighbors helped take care of Mrs. Jimmerson and Joan. Both are bedridden and Joan cannot speak.

Thelma Watson Watt, owner of the funeral home which buried Jimmerson, told reporters of the situation and arranged for the pair to be taken to a hospital for a checkup. Mrs. Watt said a doctor told her if the two were separated "it could be fatal for both."

The fund is to help pay for Joan's nursing home and medical costs until she is 21 and qualifies for state medical care benefits. Two checks of $500 were received. A $1,000 check came from a New York businessman.

"If you drop her you better take off running," Mrs. Jimmerson warned attendants as they carried Joan from the hospital bed for the ride to the nursing home.

Someone said, "It's okay Grams." She lay back and, while Joan cried going down the hall, said: "Land sakes, I've taken care of that baby for 20 years."

Mrs. Jimmerson baby-sat for Joan's mother and when she died took the child. Joan's father, twin brother and sister have not been heard from. The Jimmersons cared for the girl with meager earnings from their confectionery store.

'Film Business Killing Itself': Gov. R. Reagan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, who used to be an actor himself, says the recent cascade of sexy films is ruining Hollywood.

"I think the motion picture business is killing itself off," he declared. "The hell with it.

"The funny thing is, the solid pictures that are still being made are doing the best business."

In an interview, the governor asked:

"What writing does it take to simply have two people undress and get into bed? Call me a square if you want to, but I think the business has degenerated."

Reagan talked about the current state of the movies as he sat behind his desk in the Capitol.

Lines crease his face, but his hair is the same auburn-brown as when he left the television series "Death Valley Days" to run for governor in 1966.

He said that when he, his wife Nancy and their children Patti, 16, and "Skipper," 11, have gone to the movies recently, they have picked solid family fare such as "Oliver," "Camelot," and "Gone with the Wind."

He and his wife also enjoyed "True Grit" and he had no objection to John Wayne's outburst of profanity in one scene.

Through much of Reagan's film career, which stretched from 1937 to 1966, the industry was under a strict code. In "Voice of the Turtle," a 1947 film, Reagan spent a night in an apartment with an unmarried girl—but they were in separate rooms with a locked door between.

Today's films, the governor said, are too explicit.

Reagan said that when he and Mrs. Reagan want to take their children to the movies "we can pick up the phone to almost any studio in town and have friends there and say 'What about it, we're thinking of taking the kids to such and such a movie.'

"Sometimes the screams at the other end of the phone yelling 'Don't!' curdle your blood."

With the exception of the wolverine, the fisher is the largest of the North American carnivorous quadrupeds of the weasel family. It measures two feet long without the tail.

Eskymos, Crusaders Register Victories

Two-Game Slump Stops At Alpena In 35-16 Triumph

ALPENA — The Escanaba Eskymos shook of the effects of two straight defeats to come roaring back and knock off the Alpena Wildcats 35-16 for their fourth victory of the season.

Escanaba, who had a 23-game victory string going this season before losing to Kingsford two weeks ago, scored in every quarter of last night's game and piled up 251 yards on the ground and 46 passing.

Although the Eskymos won the game, they also lost the services of defensive end Steve Rosemurgy, fullback Mike Dupont and quarterback Ed Gauthier. Rosemurgy, after playing an outstanding game both offensively and defensively, broke his right arm early in the third quarter and will be out of action for the remainder of the season. Dupont injured his left knee and Gauthier reinjured the same ankle that has been bothering him all season. Gauthier and Dupont will be lost for a week or two.

Escanaba opened the scoring in the first quarter when Brian Larsen took off on a 27-yard touchdown scamper. Tom Kangas booted the extra point to put the Eskymos out in front 7-0.

Moments later, Larson fielded a punt on the Alpena 45-yard line and returned it all the way for another touchdown. This time Kangas' kick was no good and the Eskymos took a 13-0 lead into the second period.

Alpena scored first in the second quarter on a one yard run by Tom McAuley, playing his first game of the season for the Wildcats after sitting out the first two games of the season. Alpena then elected to try for two points and quarterback Al Senchuk's pass to Tom Deiter was completed to make the score 13-8.

Larson extended the Eskymo lead a short time later with a 20-yard touchdown run. Kangas added two more points to the total with a two-point conversion toss to Bob Thompson.

In the third quarter, Alpena's Dick Stepanek put the Wildcats on the board again with a four yard run. Senchuk's pass to Bob Weinhauf for the two point conversion was complete and the score now read 21-16.

It didn't take long for the Eskymos to widen their margin once again though, as Dupont bulled his way over the end line from three yards out. A pass for the extra point was incomplete .

With 8:15 remaining in the game, Rick Brookes scored the final Eskymo touchdown with a 51-yard gallop. Brookes also ran the extra point to give Escanaba its 35-16 bargin.

Jerry Cvengros, the Eskymo coach, stated that the entire Escanaba team played an outstanding game. He felt the Eskymos blocked better than in any game this season and was pleased with the hard running by all the backs. Cvengros singled out Larson's runs and Brookes' long run as particularly outstanding.

Brookes led the Eskymo ball carriers in the game with 88 yards in nine rushes while Larson finished the game with 59 yards in seven carries. Doug Howard, coming off an injury that has sidelined him for the past two weeks, chipped in with 56 yards in seven carries.

The Eskymos will get back into action next Friday night when they travel to Marinette to meet the always tough Marines.

POWERS — The Bark River-Harris Broncos used the passing combination of quarterback Russ Pirlot to end Joe Shiverski to score a 44-14 victory over the Powers-Spalding Tigers and clinch the Wolverine Conference crown.

Pirlot and Shiverski combined for five touchdown plays on passes of 30, 40, 45, 50 and 45 yards. The Broncos scored their earlier points on a safety and an eight yard run by Dan Veeser.

The Tigers got all their scoring in the second quarter as Lee Vincent passed to Kim Reidy for 35 yards for the first touchdown and Jim Gaber passed to Dick Smith for 32 yards and the second. The Tigers also added a two-point conversion on a pass from Don Sharkey to Bob Triest.

The Broncos are now 5-0 on the season and have scored 204 points while allowing just 34. The loss gave Powers-Spalding a 2-3 mark.

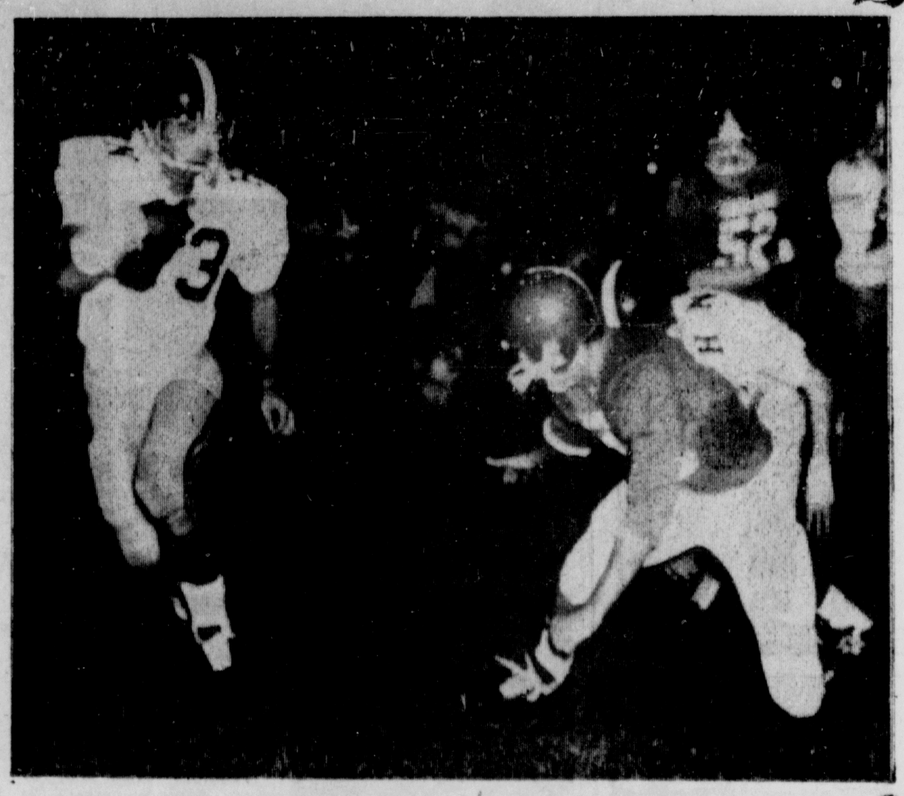
Michigan's record - breaking tailback of 1968, Ron Johnson, was selected as the Wolverines' most valuable player in both 1967 and 1968. The last Michigan player to be awarded the honor for two straight years was Tom Harmon in 1939 and 1940.



DAN YOUNG (33), Holy Name's hard-running senior fullback, looks for a block that will send him on his way during last night's homecoming game against the Manistique Emeralds. Young, with his face bandaged because of stitches taken earlier in the week, ran for 84 yards in the game and scored three of Holy Name's touchdowns in the 39-0 romp. Young has crossed the enemy goal line 13 times this season for 78 points, tying the Holy Name school record for points scored in a season. (Daily Press Photo)

Young, Untried Juniors Spark Crusader Offense

By MIKE UTT

An untried passing combination and the record tying performance turned in by Dan Young sparked the Holy Name Crusaders in a 39-0 victory over the Manistique Emeralds Friday night in Holy Name's homecoming game.

Holy Name was hit hard by injuries this past week and was minus the services of starting quarterback Bob McGinn and running back Tom Ness, linebacker Paul VanEnkevort, halfback B. J. Belland, linemen Tim Bal, Tom Barron, Bob Buckland and defensicve stalwart Chuck Guay. Doug Bovin, the Crusader coach, filled out his roster with eight untried players and all turned in respectable performances, but none quite as spectacular as those of quarterback Joe Kroll and wide receiver Dale Weber.

Kroll, who has been on the roster all season but had not seen any action, entered the game late in the third quarter and started firing passes all over the field and marched the Crusaders downfield for two touchdowns. Weber was on the receiving end of both of Kroll's touchdown passes, making outstanding catches on both plays. Kroll completed his first five passes and finished the game with six completions in eight attempts.

Ties Record

Young, Holy Name's outstanding senior fullback, scored the first three Crusader touchdowns to run his season scoring total to 78 points, which ties the Holy Name school record for scoring in a season. Young, who has three games left to play in a Crusader uniform, now has scored 13 touchdowns this season.

In addition to their fine offense, the Crusaders showed some real defensive strength in the game, giving Manistique just 22 yards rushing and only 12 passing. Players turning outstanding games on defense were Young, Gary Corbett, Jim DeGrand, Mark Johnson, Kim Oslund, Joe Joran and Bill Beauvais.

Holy Name got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter after Dave Oslund fell on a Manistique fumble at the 12-yard line. After a pair of running plays by Young and Joe Sinclair put the ball on the two, Young bulled to paydirt for his first score of the night. John DeGrand's extra point attempt was wide of the mark.

Alert Play

Their next touchdown came early in the second period after a 65-yard drive in nine plays which started near the end of the first quarter. A key play in the drive was a pass from quarterback Don Cousineau to end Jim Dubord for 24 yards to put the ball on the 12-yard line. The pass was knocked away by an Emerald defender, but Dubord stayed with the play and caught the ball for a long gainer.

Two plays later, Young carried over from the four. Jim DeGrand's placement was also wide of the mark and the Crusaders held a 12-0 lead.

Young's record tying touchdown came after an exchange of the ball on a punt by the Emeralds. The drive started on the Manistique 42-yard line and used up just eight plays in scoring. Some good running by halfbacks Dennis Severinsen and Sinclair put the ball on the 27-yard line, where Young then took over and tried to go around his right end. He appeared to be stopped at the line of scrimmage, but he shook himself loose and bolted down the sidelines for the touchdown. A pass from Kroll to Neil Odgers gave Holy Name a 20-0 lead at halftime.

Late in the third period, Cousineau took to the air and completed a pass to John Olinger for 27 yards to set up the Crusaders' fourth touchdown at the 13-yard line. After two more passes which were incomplete, Holy Name got the ball on the seven yard line on a pass interference penalty. Sinclair then picked up the score two plays later on a three-yard run. Jim DeGrand's kick again failed to find the mark.

Subs Shine

On the first play after the kickoff, Manistique's Kendall Neeson fumbled and Johnson fell on the ball at the Emeralds' 25. Kroll was sent in to direct the Crusader offense and it took him just four plays to get on the board, the final play being a 10-yard scoring strike to Weber. John DeGrand returned to try for the extra point and found the center of the posts with this kick.

The final scoring play had to be seen to be appreciated. With the ball on the Manistique 34, Kroll dropped back to pass and fired to Weber. Two Manistique defenders came over to cover him and the ball looked like it was going to be intercepted. Then, all of a sudden, Weber came squirting out of the jam with the ball and turned upfield and raced the remaining yards untouched for the score. John DeGrand's placement kick was blocked and Holy Name now held a 39-0 margin.

Another weird play happened on the next kickoff. Young hit the ball squarely, but instead of going high in the air it came on a line drive fashion right at Manistique's Ray Sikarskie. The ball hit Sikarskie in the face and it looked like a severe injury had just happened. After a few minutes, Sikarskie left the field under his own power.

The victory left Holy Name with a 4-2 season record and put them back on the winning track for their game with West Iron County at Iron River next weekend. This contest will be a must for the Crusaders if they are going to have any chance at the Great Northern Conference title.

Packer-Viking Contest Rated As Key NFL Game

By The Associated Press

There will be a college graduates football game Sunday at the University of Minnesota's Memorial Stadium between two groups of men—some balding, some starting to slow up, but all big, smart and tough—known as the Green Bay Packers and the Minnesota Vikings.

The key game in the National Football League's Central Division will get its college atmosphere because the Baltimore Orioles and Minnesota Twins have an American League baseball playoff game Monday at Metropolitan Stadium—and the Packers and Vikings would tear up the field.

So, the Packers and Vikings will try to tear up each other at Memorial Stadium as Green Bay shoots for its third straight victory and Minnesota attempts to tie the Pack for first place by making its record 2-1.

The Baltimore Colts, 0-2, and the Atlanta Falcons, 1-1, also will have to change playing sites because of a National League baseball playoff between the New York Mets and the Atlanta Braves Sunday at Atlanta Stadium. The Colts and Falcons will play at Georgia Tech's Grant Field.

In other NFL action, Dallas, 2-0, is at Philadelphia, 1-1; New Orleans, 0-2, at Los Angeles, 2-0, Detroit, 1-1, at Cleveland, 2-0; St. Louis 1-1 at Pititsburgh, 1-1; Washington, 1-1 at San Francisco, 0-2, and Chicago, 0-2 at the New York Giants, 1-1.

The Green Bay—Minnesota game pits a Packers' defense that has allowed just seven points in two games and a Vikings' offense which rolled up 52 points in battering Baltimore.

Heading the Minnesota cast, with a light one on left wrist because of a hairline fracture, will be quarterback Joe Kapp who completed 28 of 43 passes for 449 yards and an NFL record-tying seven touchdowns. Out to stop him will be a defense which features such stars as middle linebacker Ray Nitchke, end Willie Davis and back Herb Adderly.

Minnesota's front four will try to put the pressure on quarterback Bart Starr and also contain the running of Travis Williams who picked up 97 yards in 18 carries in a 14-7 victory over San Francisco.

Baltimore will be trying to regroup after the 52-14 smashing by Minnesota. A third straight loss, something that has not happened since 1962, would just about end Colts' chances to catch Los Angeles in the Coastal Division. Atlanta will have to protect quarterback Bob Berry better than it did in a 17-7 loss to Los Angeles in which he was trapped 10 times.

For Philadelphia to upset Dallas, the Eagles will have to stop the running of rookie Calvin Hill, who leads the league with 208 in two games, and establish a rushing game against a Cowboys defense that has allowed just 99 yards on the ground this season.

A tremendous pass rush and steady offense, guided by quarterback Roman Gabriel, figures to get Los Angeles past New Orleans.

Leroy Kelly, who missed last week's action with a pulled hamstring, might return to add strength to Cleveland's running game. The Browns, led by Reece Morrison and rookie Ron Johnson, still ground out 199 yards in a 27-23 victory over Washington and now will have to penetrate a Detroit defense that has allowed only one touchdown.

Left safety Jerry Stovall will not play for St. Louis because of a chest injury in the Cardinals game against Pittsburgh. The Steelers got 275 yards and two touchdowns from the passing of Dick Shiner in 41-27 loss to Philadelphia.

Washington got good running, 177 yards, in loss to Cleveland and definitely will have the passing of Sonny Jurgensen in its bid to beat San Francisco, which looked better losing to Green Bay than it did to Atlanta.

Chicago once again will pin its hopes on a stout defense and the breakaway threat of Gale Sayers. New York hopes to recover the offense that upset Minnesota but was ineffectual in 24-0 loss to Detroit.

Mets' Pitching Slated Against Braves' Bats

ATLANTA (AP) — It'll be Tom Seaver for the New York Mets and Phil Niekro for the Atlanta Braves today in the opener of a best-of-five-game playoff for the National League pennant that will provide another opportunity to test the old baseball adage that good pitching stops good hitting.

And that's exactly what this match-up between the Eastern champion Mets and the Western champion Braves is expected to be all about when the teams take the field for the 4 p.m., EDT, start of the tradition-breaking playoffs that will be nationally televised by NBC.

Initiated to satisfy the requirements of the new two-league, four division set-up, baseball never before in its 100 years has had a similar playoff system, and therefore no precedent has been established for the pitching vs. hitting argument in such a short series.

But that will be the test here as the two teams battle today and Sunday, before moving on to New York, for the right to meet the Baltimore-Minnesota playoff winner in the World Series scheduled to begin a week from today.

"Any manager with a Tom Seaver and a Jerry Koosman has a good chance to beat anybody," Manager Gil Hodges of the Mets explained as he sent his club through a light workout Friday. "But we've got to pitch around Aaron—he's the one who makes Atlanta go."

Aaron is Hank Aaron, the ageless Braves' right fielder who hit .300 during the regular season, and exploded for 44 homers that made him the key to the Braves' ability to terrorize enemy pitching and win the tight, five-team western pennant struggle.

"Everything starts all over now," said Aaron before the game. "It's like a new season. Their pitching and our hitting. It should be an interesting series." Then, however, he added: "But it's only five games. Anything can happen.'

What is known is that Seaver, the biggest winner in the majors this season with a 25-7 record, will be out on the mound for the Mets today against knuckleballer Niekro, 23-13.

What is anticipated is that game two will see the Mets follow with Koosman, 17-8, against Ron Reed, 18-10, and game three will match New York's Gary Gentry, 13-12, and Pat Jarvis of Atlanta, 13-11.

What is not known is whether the Seaver-Koosman-Gentry combine will be able to handle an Atlanta batting order keyed to Aaron, but not without other heavy hitters in streaking Rico Carty, a .342 swinger, and Orlando Cepeda, with 22 homers.

The Mets are not without their hiters. Tommie Agee slugged 26 homers and Cleon Jones swung at a .340 clip during the season, but it was the pitching that pulled the Mets through. And the Braves are well aware of that.

While the two teams each are relying on opposing forces, they are riding similar crests, the Braves hoping to top off their best year in Atlanta by bringing the South its first NL pennant and the Mets hoping to pulloff an impossible dream by nailing the penant after so many years of ridicule.

Each also was brought back to earth in final games, the Mets losing to Chicago and having a nine-game winning streak snapped and the Braves bowing to Cincinnati after posting 10 consecutive victories.

Oddsmakers have made the braves 11-10 favorites to win the playoff, despite the fact the Mets whipped Atlanta eight of 12 times they met during the season, Seaver recording three of those victories while Nikro was charged with three of the losses.

But, maybe, the oddsmakers feel the Mets' dream really is impossible. There is little doubt that the people in Atlanta are hoping it is, and there are those, like the people who run a local motel just a couple of hundred feet from the stadium, who are convinced it is.

Hanging on the motel is a sign that explains that feeling. It says:

"Stay here. Walk to the Mets' funeral.'

Oriole Pitching Given Big Edge

BALTIMORE (AP) — A cache of strong arms appeared to be Earl Weaver's trump card and Billy Martin's short suit as the Baltimore Orioles and Minnesota Twins squared off today in the opener of their American League championship series.

Weaver sent screwballer Mike Cuellar, a 22-11 prize for the Orioles in his first AL season, against slender Jim Perry, Minnesota's top gun at 20-6, in the first game of the best-of-5 pennant playoff.

Behind Cuellar, the Orioles' manager had another left-hander, 20-game winner Dave McNally, primed for Sunday's second game at Baltimore, named Jim (No-Hit) Palmer to start at Minnesota on Monday and said stocky Tom Phoebus likely would be his mound choice for game four—should the series go that far.

But Martin, the Twins' fiery first-year skipper, would not project his pitching plans past Sunday, when indestructible Dave Boswell, the West Division kings' second 20-game winner, will go against McNally.

"I know who it's going to be for the third game, but I'm not going to say, yet," Martin told newsmen Friday afternoon before the Twins worked out at sun-swept Memorial Stadium. Asked who was being considered, he reported: "Would you like me to name my whole staff?"

Then, turning to Boswell, the broad-shouldered right-hander who literally came off the floor —after being flattened by Martin in a fistfight two months ago —to win eight of his last 11 decisions, Martin said:

"Maybe Boswell will go Monday, too. He's aways wanted to pitch two games in a row."

More likely, left-hander Jim Kaat, who posted half of the Twins four regular season victories over Baltimore, will follow Boswell. Kaat, however, has had checkered success in recent appearances, due partly to a persisting groin injury.

With Dean Chance, the former Cy Young award winner, a question mark following a long siege of arm trouble—and more recently a bout with influenza—the Twins' front line pitching appears suspect.

"I haven't had a starting rotation all season," Martin admitted. "When Tom Hall and Dick Woodson (a pair of promising rookies) were in the service, I used somebody else. When Kaat and Chance were hurt, I used somebody else. I never knew what the starting rotation was."

The "somebody else" often was veteran Bob Miller, a reliever-turned starter who proved effective more often than not and hurled the division title clincher on Sept. 22. Hall and Woodson also helped out, and Ron Perranoski, with 10 victories and 30 saves, was invaluable coming out of the bullpen.

But the Orioles' shock troops —Jim Hardin, Marcelino Lopez, Dave Leonhard and relievers Eddie Watt, Pete Richert and Dick Hall—all sparkled throughout the year. Collectively, they probably give Weaver an edge.

Still, the pixieish Baltimore pilot isn't taking anything for granted—not in a short series between a pair of explosive offensive clubs.

Sponsors Cancel Buick Golf Event

DETROIT (AP) — The profit squeeze in the automotive industry, scheduling problems and the inability to draw the biggest names in golf are being blamed for the death of the 12-year-old Buick Open golf tournament.

Buick Division of General Motors announced Friday that it was dropping sponsorship of the tournament, which has carried a purse of $125,000 in recent years.

The Buick has never been able to draw golf's top names. One problem has been the schedule, which has laternated between early June and early July. The early June date fell just prior to the U. S. Open and July fell just before the British Open. Either way, most golfers shooting for the prestige tournaments chose to sit the Buick out.

Another problem has been the fact that the Buick was sponsored by Buick. Some major stars, such as Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, have tie-ins with other automakers who might look askance at their playing in a match that, after all, existed primarily as a public relations gesture by Buick.

The schedule problem might have been solved by moving the tournament, which was played at the Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club in the Flint suburb of Grand Blanc, to an available late summer date. But again the automotive sponsorship terferred—a late summer schedule would conflict with preparations for introduction of new models.

Jerry Rideout, public relations chief for Buick and tournament director for the past 10 years, said in announcing cancellation of the tournament that it was a victim of a reassessment of company publicity practices.

The estimated cost of sponsorship was $225,000 and while that's not much for a corporation which had profits of about $1.5 billion last year, the auto industry is in a period of retrenchment as profits continue to fall despite rising sales.

The death of the Buick will leave Michigan without a major PGA event next summer. An attempt to start a second major tournament this summer ended with a fiasco when the sponsors of the $100,000 Michigan Golf Classic were unable to come up with the promised prize money at the end of the tournament.

WHETHER PRICES ARE CHASING WAGES or wages are chasing prices is the question with these figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The 1939 year is used because it precedes the decades of spiraling brought on by World War II. The 1939 prices are the average for the year, the 1969 prices are the average as of last June. Wages are figured from union scales in 1939 and up to last June this year. Some of these price and wage figures are higher now.

'Groommobile' Has Been Going To Dogs

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If every dog has his day, this must be the day. The latest pet-pampering device, a mobile van called a "Groomobile," calls at the dog's home when he needs a grooming, thus saving him the nuisance of having to make a trip to town for a bath and hair trim.

Wake up tired this morning? Maybe the mattress was to blame. Most people roll over or change posture 40 times during eight hours of sleep—but more often if the mattress is too hard rather than merely firm. Sleep experts say the extra twisting and turning can leave you weary.

Healthiest Period

What is the healthiest period of life, except for accidents? Medical authorities say it is between the ages of 5 and 15, when the body's resistance appears at its peak and therefore the mortality rate from infectious disease is at its lowest.

Weeds are the bane of the forest as well as the home flower or vegetable garden. They have been found to limit the growth of trees—and thereby the production of lumber——more than any adverse factor.

Space may need its traffic cops before this century is over. Already in orbit around the earth are nearly 3,000 manmade objects, and more are going up all the time.

Appliances Help

Quotable notables: "There are days when any electrical appliance in the house, including the vacuum cleaner, seems to offer more entertainment possibilities than the television set."—Harriet Van Horne, critic.

The "Kachoo" season is here. How can you end a sneezing attack? The old Pennsylvania Dutch thought the best way was to stare fixedly at the tip of your nose with both eyes. If that doesn't work, try using your hanky.

Worth remembering: "A little lie is not so bad—it's all those you have to tell to keep up with the first that makes you so uncomfortable."

Cupid Question Mark

Know your language: Why is Cupid often called Dan Cupid? Cupid, the god of love, derives from the Latin word "cupido," meaning desire, passion, or love. Dan is merely an old title of honor or respect, similar to Lord, Master or sir. Poetic references to Dan Cupid date from the 14th century.

Folklore: Moonlight makes a razor dull. To get rid of a wart, rub it with corn, bore a hole in a tree, put the corn in the hole, plug it up—and the wart will vanish. A child will die young if it sees its face in a mirror before its first birthday. When you see a white horse, spit on the ground, or you'll have bad luck.

House Speaker Wants Education Board To Stay

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker William Ryan says he believes he can accept most of the recommendations made by the governor's educational reform commission except a suggestion that the State Board of Education be abolished.

Ryan revealed that he believes a boost in the state income tax is the fairest and most equitable way to pay for the education proposals, and he thinks it can be done with perhaps a boost of 1.5 per cent.

The present personal income tax rate is 2.6 per cent, and such a hike would bring the tax to 4.1 per cent.

Ryan also said he disagrees with those who are urging that any parochiaid proposal be voted on separately by the Legislature, apart from the other portions of the over-all plan.

Ryan is one of the strongest backers in the Legislature of plans to give public money to parochial and private schools.

Blood Test Not Rated Substitute For Breath Test

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Appeals Court Friday upheld the state's implied consent law which requires a person suspected of drunken driving to take a breath test or lose his license.

In an opinion by Chief Judge T. John Lesinski, the court said a suspect must take a particular chemical test such as a blood sample or take a breath test or risk revocation or suspension of his license.

A driver may not demand a blood test instead of a breath test without loss of his license, the court said, and he has no constitutionally guaranteed right to a blood test.

The ruling upheld a decision by Washtenaw County Circuit Court Judge John W. Conlin against Clyde Collins, arrested for drunk driving in Ann Arbor.

Slower Traffic Speed At Kipling Urged By Varnum

State Representative Charles H. Varnum (R-107th District) is leading the effort to get a speed control zone posted on U.S. 2 through the Delta County village of Kipling.

Representative Varnum recently advised Paul Michelin, district engineer for the State Highway Department:

"I have paid closer attention to this area since your meeting with the people of Kipling and I have come to the conclusion that some type of speed control would be most beneficial. I am also shocked at the statement that was made at this meeting that there have only been 5 or 6 serious accidents in this area.

"I am sure that those families that have had fatalities in that area completely disagree with you. As far as I am concerned, as a public official and also a parent, I certainly could put up with rear-end collisions much easier than to have one of my children killed.

"I realize that this might be somewhat of an emotional issue but I honestly feel that everything is just not cut and dry with the number of rear-end accidents in relationship to even one fatality.

"I do hope that you will review your present position and see fit to install a speed control zone through the village of Kipling," Varnum said.

"What's in the cup, Granddad?"

Not many bother to answer the countless questions he loves to ask. But usually he can count on Granddad.

"What was in The Cup at church this morning?" It's a question many people ask — people sincerely wanting to know its significance . . . people who like to argue. (Is it wine or grape juice?) Theorists . . . theologians . . . people older and wiser than a little boy.

"Why can't I drink The Cup, like you and all the others, Granddad?"

"You're a little young, Sonny. It's one of the important things in life . . . a privilege . . . a part of growing up!"

"What does it mean, Granddad?"

"It means remembering . . . remembering what God gave us — what Christ did for us — what the Church is to us. It means being truly sorry that we have failed to do our very best."

"I don't understand, Granddad."

"But you will. That's why we all go to church . . . to learn . . . to understand . . . to remember . . . to love our Lord."

"Maybe I do understand, Granddad, about The Cup — 'cause I already love the Lord."
